Safeguarding Children and Young People: Recruitment and Screening Policy

Introduction and Purpose

Every day children and young people are taught, coached, and cared for by workers and volunteers. From sports coaches, music teachers, childcare workers, teachers and church groups – everyone plays a part in helping educate, nurture and inspire children. Recruitment processes need statements and questions that appropriately screen persons for positions work with children and young people. The requirement for a Working With Children Clearance (WWCC) has been introduced under the Care and Protection of Children Act (NT), as a method to prevent and deter people who pose a risk to the safety of children from working with them, in either a paid or volunteer capacity. Therefore the WWCC is an important part of the recruitment and screening process for potential new employees and volunteers.

Policy Statement

In accordance with the Care and Protection of Children Act (NT), the Catholic Diocese of Darwin, having zero tolerance to child abuse, is committed to ensure that children and young people are safe from harm and abuse. As an employer, the Catholic Diocese of Darwin will apply thorough screening processes in the recruitment of employees and volunteers and ensure that all persons employed or engaged to carry out work in child related employment are screened appropriately through a Working With Children Clearance (WWCC).

Responsibility

The onus for complying with the Northern Territory Care and Protection Act, rests with both the individual and the person who engages the individual, e.g. Parish Priest is the employer of all involved in parish activities.

Advertising

When advertising vacant positions in the Parish that includes contact and work with children and young people, including records, the following is to be included at the end of the advertisement:

The Catholic Diocese of Darwin is committed to the protection of children and has zero-tolerance of any abuse of children and young people. All employees must have a valid Working With Children Clearance in accordance with the law.
